Re: Letter of recommendation for Savanté Wine Cellars

“As the developer and builder of the Mountain Living Natural Dream Home located in Cordillera, Colorado, I would like to thank you and your team for the wonderful work you did designing and installing our custom wine room. Everyone who has toured the home falls in love with the wine room. I am most proud of the level of “green” we were able to achieve, from the reclaimed wine barrels to the design, to the lighting, this room is by far one of our favorite places in the entire house.

Thanks to your expertise and research, we were able to gain maximum LEED points for the use of materials. In addition to your green approach in design, we also won the ASID Sustainable Design Award for 2009. As one of the designers on this project you deserve the credit for your vision and your work. I would also like to congratulate your company for being selected to be the feature of the Mountain Living Dream Home Cover Photo. What an amazing photo of the wine room....

From my first discussion with you, I felt confident that you not only knew how to do the work, but that you would bring an original element of design and material use by using the old wine barrels. You created a wine room that sits in the heart of the home that is not only used as a wine room, but as a place to gather during a party or a quiet retreat for two. I applaud your vision and thank you for all of the extra time you spent making this a reality.

You have always gone over and beyond helping out on the project whenever needed and for that I am very grateful. I wish you continued success and I am always highly pleased to recommend you to anyone who is looking for a sustainable approach to building as well as excellent craftsmanship performed by a company with integrity and professionalism.”
